Attachment: Accompanying Statement explaining CPNI procedures

STATEMENT OF COMPLIANCE WITH CUSTOMER PROPRIETARY NETWORK INFORMATION RULES

San Juan Cable LLC d/b/a OneLink Communications (the "Company") has established the following operating procedures to ensure compliance with Section 222 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and the regulations issued by the Federal Communications Commission (the "Commission") regarding protection of customer proprietary network information ("CPNI").

1. Employee Training; Supervisory Review Process. Company personnel are trained to understand what CPNI is and when they are and are not authorized to use or disclose CPNI. Nevertheless, Company personnel are not permitted to make any decisions regarding use of CPNI without first consulting with a supervisor from the Customer Operations Department. In deciding whether the contemplated use of the CPNI is proper, supervisors consider one or more of the following: the Company's own compliance policies, applicable Commission regulations, and the Commission's Small Entity Compliance Guide regarding CPNI. If necessary, the Company also consults legal counsel.

2. Application of Disciplinary Policy. The Company has disciplinary policies and procedures in place, and such policies and procedures are applied to Company personnel who use or disclose CPNI without authorization or in an improper manner.

3. Customer Access to CPNI; Authentication. The Company does not disclose CPNI to customers (or anyone else) over the telephone; if customers want to access CPNI, they must visit the Company in person and present valid photo identification or sign into their online accounts. The Company requires password authentication for customer-initiated access to customers' online accounts. These passwords, as well as the procedure used to authenticate a caller's identity if such caller has forgotten his or her password, effectively protect customers' CPNI from "data brokers."

4. Non-Disclosure of CPNI where Customer Approval Required. The Company's policy is not to use CPNI, or to disclose CPNI to third parties, for purposes that would require customer approval. If in the future that policy changes, the Company will comply with the notice and consent requirements set forth in the Commission's rules.

5. Use of CPNI for Permitted Purposes. The Company may use CPNI, or share CPNI with contractors (acting as agents of the Company), for purposes expressly authorized by Section 222(d) of the Communications Act, such as initiating, rendering, and billing and collecting for telecommunications services, as well as engaging in limited inbound telemarketing and administrative services during calls initiated by customers.

6. Recordkeeping. The Company maintains the records required by the CPNI rules, to the extent applicable.

7. Computer System Encryption. As encouraged by the Commission, the Company has implemented additional CPNI protective measures. All of the Company's computer systems and databases containing CPNI are encrypted to prevent unauthorized access.

8. Internal Investigation of Attempted “Pre-Texting”. The Company is cognizant of the dangers of “pretexting,” and therefore, in the event that the Company detects attempts by so-called “data brokers” to use pretexting against it or otherwise to access CPNI, the Company will conduct an internal investigation to determine the source of the problem and the most appropriate resolution, which may involve reporting such pretexting activity to the Commission or other applicable governmental authorities.

9. Notification of Breach – Law Enforcement and Customers. In the event that the Company discovers a breach of customers’ CPNI, the Company will report such breach to law enforcement officials and the affected customers in accordance with the Commission’s rules.

10. No Customer Complaints During 2011. The Company has not received any customer complaints with respect to misuse, unauthorized disclosure, or other problems with respect to its handling or protection of CPNI since January 1, 2011.
